Allied Troops In Europe Are Strengthened

Berlin Blockade Behind Action In Western Germany — In Holy Land Jews Fight to Open Jerusalem Road

(By the Associated Press) An authoritative source said today Britain has sent considerable numbers of new troops to western Germany because of the tension in blockaded Berlin.

The informant said "many" of the reinforcements will be flown into Berlin itself.

The disclosure came as Gen. Brian Robertson, British military governor in Germany, conferred here with the chief of staff of the ministry of defense, Gen. Sir Percy Holles, and other service chiefs.

Earlier in the day, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin gave the cabinet an up-to-the minute report on the Berlin crisis. Britain, the U.S. and France sent notes to Moscow last week, demanding that the Russians end the Berlin land blockade. The Kremlin has not replied.

No informant would say exactly how many troops have gone to western Germany, or how many will be sent into Berlin. One source, however, said troop movements to the British zone of Germany "have been taking place over the last three or four weeks." He made it clear that most of the troops were reinforcements rather than replacements.

A U.S. Army spokesman said today no reinforcements are contemplated for American troops in Germany.

The Byron Layman family has captured—that's about the correct word, too—a flying bug that has the non-experts in entomology around the office guessing.

Barney and his two energetic youngsters, Linda and Skipper, brought the body of their captive in for identification. Since the Record-Herald's chief nature faker is on vacation, a half dozen of us and the three Laymans converged on the big, brand new Webster's International Dictionary.

One page of 40 illustrations of assorted insects in gaudy colors was studied carefully. Only the dragonfly closely resembled it. The difference was our four-winged brown bug had a vicious pair of pincers on his nose. He seemed to be a bit larger, too.

While we all had to give up on identifying the insect, Linda and Skipper apparently didn't mind. They lost interest in it and centered their attention on the Associated Press printers and Linotypes—yes, they got in a pretty fair tour of the place in a short time—while the dictionary hunt was going on.

What they really wanted to know was not the name of a dead insect, but what made the printers print when nobody was near them.

What a small world this is after all!

A salesman walked into the general insurance agency office of Richard R. Willis and spread out on his desk an impressive layout of an advertising service.

Willis was impressed with the material and started studying it. He noticed that the firm's headquarters were in San Francisco, but that didn't mean anything in particular.

Suddenly, he stopped as he focused on the name of the president. It was Ralph O. Spangler. He is Willis' first cousin.

From then on the conversation turned to the cousin Willis hadn't seen for years. He knew he was in San Francisco, but nothing more.

The Spangler family was prominent in the Milledgeville community a good many years ago.

Record Peak Hit by Hogs

CHICAGO, July 12—(P)—One load of hogs sold today for the all-time record high price of $30.50, the only other time in history this price was paid was last Sept. 11.

Today's market started at about the same levels at last Friday, but traders soon uncovered a scarcity in the day's receipts of top quality lightweight hogs. These weighing less than 230 pounds promptly headed 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds higher, ranging from $29.50 to $30.25.

Both Tragedies Occur Within 3-Hour Period

Donald Alltop and Clarence Oty Are Accident Victims

Murky creek waters of Fayette County claimed two lives Sunday, the first deaths of drowning during the 1948 summer season.

The victims were:

Donald Alltop, 22, Bloomingburg, father of two young children.

Clarence Oty, 34, New Holland, unmarried.

Both mishaps occurred within three hours, one at Rock Bridge eight miles south of Washington C. H., the other in the North Fork of Paint Creek near New Holland, about eight miles east of Washington C. H.

Dr. Joseph M. Herbert, acting coroner, returned verdicts of "accidental death through drowning" in both cases.

Alltop and two friends were swimming in Upper Cedar Hole in Paint Creek between Rock Mills and Rock Bridge when the mishap occurred at about 11:20 A. M.

The drowning took place near where Sugar Creek flows into Paint Creek.

A companion, William Clifford, 20, Fayette Hotel, Washington C. H., said Alltop had crossed the hole swimming behind him. The pair turned around to return to the other shore and were almost all the way across the pool when Alltop called for help.

Cause Uncertain

He then went under. It was not certain whether he had become exhausted or was the victim of a cramp, witness said.

A telephone call was put through to the sheriff's office in Washington C. H. and aid was dispatched immediately.

The youth had sunk to the bottom of the 12-foot hole, however, and a group of divers was unable to recover him. Sheriff Orland Hayes used the police radio to locate a boat to help in the search and the sheriff had departed to pick one up.

He was recalled to the scene when Alltop body was located after 45 minutes and pulled to the surface with a rope.

U. of Pennsylvania After Stassen for President, Report

PHILADELPHIA, July 12—(P)—The Philadelphia Inquirer said today the University of Pennsylvania is seeking former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota as president of the University.

The 41-year-old candidate for the presidential nomination at the recent Republican national convention was sounded out, the Inquirer said, by Robert T. McCracken, chairman of the University's board of trustees, after the convention.

McCracken, reached by the Associated Press, refused to confirm or deny the report.

Industrialist Killed in Crash While Hunting Factory Site

ASHTABULA, July 12—(P)—A Cleveland pilot-industrialist looking for a plant site, and two passengers were dead today as a result of the crash and explosion of their private plane in a field near Andover, O.

Herbert C. Phillips, 43-year-old owner of the City Welding & Manufacturing Co. at Cleveland, was killed instantly when his Vultee BT-13 plane crashed, exploded 40 to 80 percent in the cockpit.

Passengers killed in the crash were Elsworth Muse, 23, and Virgil Woodard, 22, both of nearby Richmonnd. Muse died instantly, while Woodard succumbed several hours later in a hospital after suffering critical burns.

Phillips, a former Civil Air Patrol captain, flew from Willoughby to Andover early yesterday to look at possible plant sites for his company, which he planned to transfer to Andover, sheriff's deputies said.

The propeller of his plane was damaged slightly in an afternoon flight to Greenville, Pa., deputies reported, but Phillips returned to Andover and believed the damage would not affect the plane's performance.

A few minutes after taking off from a private airport with Woodard and Muse as passengers, witnesses told deputies, Phillips' plane banked sharply, clipped the top of a tree and grazed another before exploding and burning in the field. Bodies of the three were taken from the flaming wreckage by persons who saw the crash.

$1,000,000-plus Wheat Harvest In County Now Moving Toward End

A steady stream of golden grain has been pouring into the county's elevators and cash into the pockets of the farmers for more than a week now as one of the best harvests in years moved into the home stretch today.

Just how much wheat and how much cash the harvest will yield remains conjectural. Reports from the 13 elevators serving the community show that more than 300,000 bushels have been dumped into the bins. At an average of $2 a bushel, for easy figuring, that puts the cash value up to over $600,000.

Elevator reports also indicate that thousands more bushels have been stored on the farm—and that is the same as more money in the bank.

By the time the threshing and combining is completed, probably in another week, Fayette County farmers will have reaped well over a $1,000,000 worth of wheat from their fertile fields.

And, that does not include the grain in storage that will be sold later, either direct for cash or in the form of livestock.

There is no possible way to check accurately the value of the county's wheat crop, however.

In the days of the AAA and crop control, both acreage and yield figures were on file. But there is no crop control like that now and no records on either acreage or yields are kept.

Yields were unusually high this year, both farmers and grain men agree. Besides, the quality is con-

Southern Revolt Still Threat To Party Harmony

Storms Clouds Gather Over Vice Presidency And Civil Rights

BY JACK BELL
CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, July 12—(P)—Justice William O. Douglas stepped out of the vice presidential picture and Senator Alben Barkley came to the front today as the Thirtieth Democratic National Convention got under way at 11:13 A. M. (EST).

Douglas, tapped as President Truman's first choice, declined to quit the supreme court and make the race. His decision was announced by John Redding, Democratic publicity chief. Redding said he regards the word from Douglas, which came through friends, as an "absolute refusal."

With delegates assembled for the convention's first session, word circulated around the hall and in downtown committee headquarters that Barkley may get the administration's call on a ticket certain to be topped by President Truman.

Southern Rebels

Southern delegates who had been planning a fight against Douglas, if he chose to run, generally reacted favorably to reports that Barkley now might be the choice.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) told a reporter he thinks most of the Dixie delegations rebelling against Truman's civil rights program would go along on Barkley.

There was less enthusiasm among the southerners, however, about reports from some administration sources that the presidential favor might be turned toward Gov. William Preston Lane of Maryland.

Delegates generally agreed that President Truman can have whomever he wants for his running mate.

The question was whether southerners would fight over the second place as they have over the presidential nomination by advancing Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas to oppose Truman.

Missing Child Found Asleep

COLUMBUS, July 12—(P)—Four year old Frankie Tanzillo of Marion, was found asleep on a glider on a front porch at 744 Hamlet St., here.

He was a stranger to occupants of the house. They called police. At police juvenile bureau, Miss Renee Leftoff, 23, an Ohio State University student working on her master's degree cared for the lad.

Police finally discovered Frankie was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Tanzillo. He came here Sunday night from Marion to visit his aunt, Mrs. Robert Oiler, 799 Hamlet St., and had roamed to a nearby porch where he fell asleep.

16 Jet Fighter Planes On Flight to Germany

BANGOR, Me., July 12—(P)—Pointed for troubled Germany in the air force's first jet-propelled trans-Atlantic flight, a group of F-80 Shooting Stars roared into Dow Air Base today from Selfridge Field, Mich.

The youth had sunk to the bottom of the 12-foot hole, however, and a group of divers was unable to recover him. Sheriff Orland Hayes used the police radio to locate a boat to help in the search and the sheriff had departed to pick one up.

Showers Balk Ball Games

Harvest Interrupted But Corn Benefited

The double feature softball program set for Monday night was washed out by the mid-day drenching shower.

Fred Pierson, the recreation director, said soon after the rain stopped that he "never so much water...as dry as it was, the diamond was ankledeep in mud."

In announcing the postponement, Pierson said, no playoff dates had been set for the Morton vs Hugh Legion game, which was to have been the curtain raiser in the evening, or the DP&L vs Armbrust tilt, the second on the card.

One thing seemed certain to the recreation director: The playoffs were unlikely before July 28. Doubleheaders are scheduled for every night until that time.

Although the postponement was ordered on the basis of the wet grounds about noon, humid atmosphere and low-hanging clouds held the promise of more rain during the day.

The silver lining to the clouds was the benefit received by corn and garden produce from the showers.

The rain was sufficiently heavy to halt the wheat harvest all over the county. Farmers generally agreed, however, the rain on the corn and grass was worth interruption.

starved plants of western Berlin.

Yugoslavia declared that "spy terrorist groups" who crossed its frontiers have been captured. Ante Pavelic, who was premier of the Croatian puppet government during the war, and an alleged Catholic priest of whom the Vatican said it never had heard, were reported to be leaders of the movement.

France prepared to grant $100,000,000 wage increases to government employees on strike or about to walk out. Premier Robert Schuman said the United States will be giving France $1,100,000 a year under the Marshall Plan, at the expense of the U.S. taxpayers.

"The Marshall Plan is the greatest enterprise in history for the solidarity of humanity," he said.

War in Holy Land

Israeli troops fighting to open the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem Road said Arabs surrounded in strategic Er Ramle have offered to surrender. The fall of the town would open the way to a two way assault on Latrun, the bloody last barrier blocking the road.

In another considerable success in the renewed war for Palestine, the Jews captured Lydda and its airport, the largest in the country.

The Arabs advanced 10 miles along a 12 mile front in the Gilboa hills between Jenin and Haifa, seizing seven villages on the approaches to the big Jewish communications center of Afula.

Jerusalem was divebombed by two Egyptian planes which seemed to be aiming at a Jewish airport. Tel Aviv and other Jewish settlements also were raided, the Egyptian air force said.

Iraq troops infiltrated the south, north and northwest outskirts of Haifa.

Both the Jews and Russians criticized Count Folke Bernadotte, the UN mediator who brought about the four weeks armistice which ended last Friday. The Jews asserted he apologized for Arab aggression and prejudiced the Palestine negotiations.

The Russian newspaper Pravda said Bernadotte had done everything possible "to inflame still more the enmity between Arabs and Jews and to prepare the soil for further intrigues of the imperialist powers." Moscow's literary Gazette called the count an agent of Wall Street. Last week, Moscow called him an agent of the British. The mediator was en route to New York to appear before the UN security council.

The Nation Today

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
The American note to Moscow, demanding that the Soviet Union immediately lift the food blockade of western Berlin, is couched in a bluntness which is the only kind of language the Bolsheviks understand.

It is perhaps the most forceful communication ever laid before the post-war Muscovites.

It isn't belligerent and it doesn't make threats, but it leaves no doubt that Uncle Sam has had enough of bullying. He isn't taking any more.

Similar notes were sounded simultaneously by both Britain and France. So far as America is concerned, it will be sweet music in the ears of the average citizen, who has been waiting eagerly for this hardening against Communist aggression.

The "average" citizen, by the way, gives his loyalty to America. There are Communists and fellow travelers, who are citizens in name only and take their orders from Moscow, to whom the note will not be music.

The Communist food blockade is, of course, an inhuman effort to starve the 2,400,000 civilians of western Berlin and thus force America, France and Britain to withdraw from the capital. Such a withdrawal would leave the Reds free to create another satellite state out of their German zone of occupation, with Berlin as the capital.

Of this scheme the Washington note warns that the United States will not be compelled by "threats, pressures or other actions" to abandon its rights in Berlin. And listen to this:

"It is intolerable that any one of the occupying authorities should attempt to impose a blockade upon the people of Berlin. The United States government is therefore obliged to insist that in accordance with existing agreements the arrangements for the movement of freight and passenger traffic between the western zones and Berlin be fully restored."

Secretary Marshall says in the note that the United States "is ready as a first step to participate in negotiations in Berlin among the four allied occupying authorities" for the settlement of outstanding disputes. However, he flatly declares it is "a pre-requisite that the lines of communication and the movement of persons and goods between the United Kingdom, the United States and the French sectors in Berlin and the western zone shall have been fully restored."

Staunton Homemakers In Cincinnati Saturday

The Staunton Homemakers 4-H Club had a busy day Saturday when they motored to Cincinnati.

In the morning, the girls and their guests attended three programs at WLW-Top of the Morning, Ruth Lyons' Morning Matinee and Family Fair.

At noon, the group went to Leserville Lake for a picnic dinner and a swimming party. Games were played later in the afternoon.

Members making the trip were Rosemary Leeth, Joyce Rumans, Wilma Salyer, Hannah Salyer, Audrey Salyer, Elaine Fields, Marquita Smith, Dixie DeWees, Vera Lamb, Marcia Fletcher, and their advisor Mrs. Alice Bush. Guests included Mrs. Mariam Bush, Mrs. Claudius Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Self, Gene Clay and Donald Palmer.

Savings Bond

Sales in County Reach $140,000

All Nearby Areas Except Greene County Closer to Quotas

Fayette County has bought $140,711 in E, F and G savings bonds during the current security loan drive, a sum approximating 34 percent of the quota, the Treasury Department revealed Monday.

The announcement came from the department's savings bonds division.

The sales figure covers the period from April 1 through July 3. The drive ends July 15.

On the basis of percentage of quota now Fayette County ranks 70th in the state, behind the adjacent counties of Clinton, Highland, Ross, Pickaway and Madison, although considerably ahead of the 21 percent reported in Greene County.

To date the quota for the state of Ohio as a whole has been 46 percent fulfilled.

Richard P. Rankin, county chairman for the security loan drive, stated that a survey of industrial establishments in the county be completed by Fred G. Rost, chairman of the payroll savings committee, shows that three plants have continued the payroll savings plan inaugurated during the war years.

These are the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, the Dayton Power and Light Company and the Cudahy Packing Company.

Other companies were sympathetic with the plan but found that they were unable to install

Sciences and Crafts In Employment Field

Positions are available for Chemists, pharmacists, draftsmen, machinists and dieticians in Ohio, the Ohio State Employment Service announced today. The Washington C. H. office of the OSERS, a division of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, is located at 211 East Market Street.

According to the Bureau's most recent state-wide job inventory, issued bi-weekly to aid in shifting workers from labor surplus to shortage areas, openings paying up to $400 monthly exist for chemists in Akron, Cleveland, Dayton and Cincinnati. Pharmacists are needed in Akron, Cleveland, Hamilton, West Union and Youngstown and the jobs pay between $60 and $80 a week. The positions call for pharmacy degrees, experience and state registration.

Visitors to the meeting were Miss Margaret Watson, county home demonstration agent; Miss Jean Graham, Dayton; Miss Cunnie Cummings and Mrs. Raymond Parks, Washington C. H.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. John Rowland, and games were played under direction of Glenna Parks, recreation leader.

The Farmer and the Urban Way of Living

Listen to the Fayette County farmer, back from a trip to Cincinnati:

"Yes—I enjoyed my trip to the city. But it tired me out. So much traffic, so many people hurrying, so much darned noise! I like to go to the city occasionally, but I couldn't stand to live there!"

And listen to the man from Cincinnati, talking about a trip to the country:

"Yes—it's nice enough out in the country. But I couldn't really stand it for too long. It's so eerie and quiet out there, and there's nothing to do. It's okay once in a while out in the country, but I couldn't stand to live there!"

Here are two individuals—one an exponent of the rural life, the other a city man—both Americans, both doing days of hard work on the farm or in the office. Both are partners in the big business venture in which everyone cooperates—the United States.

In these days of fast travel and communication, the city and country are much closer together. A Fayette County farmer seeking entertainment, for example, can make a trip to Washington C. H. for a movie in a matter of minutes. In an hour or two he can see the Reds or the Red Birds play, or can attend an OSU football game.

The country is available, too, to the man who wants to quiet his jangled nerves. But is he not just as nervous after an auto trip home on a Sunday evening?

George Sokolsky, whose column appears regularly on this page, agreed substantially with these conclusions when he spoke at the Montana School of Mines commencement.

He declared:

"The physical basis of our own civilization is agriculture and mining; the utilization of the products of mines and oil wells for the increase in the efficiency of agriculture.

"It is because of this that our farmers have never become peasants. Early in our history, our farmers learned to substitute machinery made of iron and steel for the labor of man.

"The reaper, the combine, the tractor, the automobile, varieties of motors, electricity, the telephone, the numerous machines for cleaning, cooling, freezing, sterilizing the products of the farm, made of American agriculture a calling which reduced the distance between city and country, between urban and rural populations.

"The automobile and the telephone have actually obliterated that distance, so that in this country, as in few others, the farmer increasingly lives on an urban standard of life."

Indeed, the farmer has the advantages of healthful, outdoor—although physically strenuous work—and keeps the advantages of urban recreation and shopping!

Hope For Older Men

Since the war's ending, with consequent reconversion in many lines of work and the complete stoppage in others, many men 40 years of age and older have found themselves out in the cold.

An organization in Chicago is finding places for many of these older men formerly of executive or administrative rank. The Men Over Forty Club has placed 700 members in executive positions, and its president, T. Harvey Gilmour, told an interviewer that industrial leaders are finding need for many persons of mature judgment and experience. There is always a market for proven ability, performance, and accomplishment, according to Gilmour.

This is true not only of men of the caliber needed for executive posts. An organization performing the same service for the rank and file of workers would undoubtedly find that many supervisory jobs and others requiring not speed and precision so much as painstaking effort and a background of experience could be filled by men from 40 years old even up into the seventies.

uses down-to-earth words which voters easily understand. He isn't so effective when reading a prepared address.

Gov. Dewey has one of the best radio voices in politics. His polished speeches are very carefully composed, often give the impression of having been thoroughly rehearsed. Both men could provide a musical touch to the campaign—President Truman at the piano and Gov. Dewey singing with a resonant baritone.

Dewey, in his sixth year as governor of New York, has had longer experience as a political administrator. President Truman, on the other hand, has been in "the big seat" for more than three trouble-packed years. He was a United States senator for 10 years, won favorable attention as chairman of a Senate war production investigating committee. He was vice president for less than three months when President Roosevelt died.

Fire Prevention Plans Observed

Emphasis Placed On Hotels in July

Special attention is now being placed on fire prevention in hotels, apartments, public buildings and night clubs in Washington C. H. during July. Fire Chief George Hall said, to carry out a recommendation from the state fire marshal's office.

Chief Hall did not go into detail on just how this particular phase of fire fighting was being emphasized other than to point up plans for special study and inspection in line with statewide appeal.

Incidentally, he personally endorsed the idea as he said: "To be trapped by fire anywhere is a frightful and possibly a final experience. We recoil with horror from the thought of being pinned in a blazing bus, automobile or airplane; of being caught on the flaming deck of a ship at sea. But there is something surpassingly terrifying about being alarmed from sleep in a hotel or apartment building by smoke and flames, darkness, panic and dispair."

Chief Hall quoted Captain Mowrey, executive secretary of the Ohio Hotels Association, as saying: "July may be just another month on the calendar but it's 'Fire Safety in Hotels Month' in the program of the Ohio Fire Safety Committee—meaning that the month is to be dedicated to education about fire safety in this vital field. Fire prevention officials throughout the state will concentrate during July on the inspection of hotels."

"They will emphasize especially the importance of 'approved' fire escapes and enclosed stairways with 'fire-door' entrances."

Polio Epidemic Is Feared For Eastern U. S. This Summer

CHICAGO —(P)— The medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis "guessed" that infantile paralysis may be heavier in the Atlantic seaboard states this summer.

Writing in Hygeia, health magazine of the American Medical Association, Dr. Hart E. Van Riper of New York said:

"From studying the visitations of previous epidemics, it is evident that infantile paralysis moves in

LOSES 60 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING, THANKS TO RENNEL

New Madison Lady Praises Reducer

"I am very happy to recommend Rennel," writes Mrs. S. Helmuth. "When I started taking Rennel I was very overweight and was bothered with that over-stuffed feeling all the time. After 60 pounds I feel better in every way—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back! You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel. No starvation diet, no printed diet list to buy, no expensive vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry for you WON'T be hungry."

Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple, go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough un-sweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle, take just two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't help, on the same day, add a little more Rennel to lose bulky fat and help reduce pounds more graceful curves—if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back! You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel. No starvation diet, no printed diet list to buy, no expensive vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry for you WON'T be hungry."

In 1944 a record 878 cases were reported.)

In attempting to guess where infantile paralysis may strike in the summer of 1948, we can see that the states along the Atlantic coast, from South Carolina northward, have been relatively free from epidemics of infantile paralysis for the past four to six years. It is possible then, that the states along the Atlantic seaboard, from South Carolina to Maine, may experience a resurgence of virus activity.

But whether outbreaks will actually take place or how severe they will be, no one can be certain. Nor should there be any undue alarm in the areas named. All efforts have been made to safeguard these potential trouble areas."

(Reports from Raleigh, N. C., said four of the state's 100 counties were regarded as epidemic areas and the number of infantile paralysis cases this year totaled 408, the worst on record for this time of year. The greatest severity of outbreaks has been in the populous central section of North Carolina.

In 1944 a record 878 cases were reported.)

Van Riper listed these precautions in guarding against the disease:

(1) Practice cleanliness, (2) avoid new contacts, (3) don't get overtired, (4) avoid chilling, (5) don't swim in polluted waters, and (6) call your doctor at once.

He said medical science knows there are many strains of virus capable of producing symptoms but does not know whether they are related. He added:

"Until this problem is solved, there can be no certain prevention or cure."

The movement for the county-wide referendum on the liquor question, Mrs. Haines said, is being carried on in 44 of the state's 88 counties.

One of the important features of the requested law, Mrs. Haines said, would not change areas already dry should the county go wet in a local option election.

The movement, she said, was sponsored by the WCTU, the Council of Churches and the Ohio Temperance League.

Two Hundred Guests Attend Silver Wedding Anniversary

One of the most charming events of the summer social season took place on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Harper received about two hundred guests at the Washington Country Club, when they celebrated their silver wedding anniversaries.

The cheery atmosphere of the club lounge was enhanced with gorgeous arrangements of roses, gladioli, a variety of other flowers and green foliage. The long table, covered with a snowy white cloth, was beautifully appointed with antique silver service at either end and the three tiered cake was topped with a silver wreath from which the numbers "25" was suspended and was sentinelled with two four-branch candelabra with white tapers. The perfect background for the serving of the cake and other accompanying viands, was the mantel banked with Queen Anne's lace in beautiful pastel shades, and the hosts and hostesses' charming daughters, Miss Cindy Harper and Miss Virginia Craig, presided. Punch was also served throughout the evening in the lovely bay window from a lace cloth covered table from the large bowl, edged with a filmy ruffle of pale green tulle, and the pastel colored Queen Anne's lace, in the dainty colors.

Mrs. Craig received the guests in a rose-beige lace gown, with rhinestone trim, and Mrs. Harper chose a lavender organza gown, accented with a green and purple sash.

Both wore orchid corsages.

Dancing to Herky Coe's orchestra added to the pleasurable evening enjoyed by the guests, and the beautiful gowns worn by the ladies, presented a myriad of color under the soft overhead lights.

Out-of-town guests included were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Short, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dick, Miss Lora Ellen Tharp and Mr. Burris Tharp of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Craig of Huron, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Herbert of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fox of Clayton, Mrs. John F. Otis of Evanston, Illinois, Mrs. Alan Grant of Mt. # Raffy Hurls 1-Hitter And Reds Beat Cards

By RALPH RODEN
(By the Associated Press)
Ken (Cannonball) Raffensberger held the Cincinnati Reds' hero's spotlight today after hurling his second one-hit game of the season.

The second one-hitter came yesterday as the Reds took a 1-0 victory from the St. Louis Cardinals. The big lefthander previously held the same club to one hit.

Marty Marion spoiled Raffy's chances for a no-hitter yesterday when he singled in the fourth. Nipp Jones got the only hit in the earlier game.

Raffensberger's deceptive pitches, backed by tight defensive play, permitted the Cardinals to put only four men on base. Two walks and an error by Grady Hatton accounted for the others to get safely to first.

Although holding the Cards to one hit, Raffy did not get one strikeout. All men were retired on the field.

Raffensberger is the only major league pitcher to twice achieve a one-hitter this season. Russ Meyer of the Chicago Cubs pitched one as did Harry (The Cat) Brecheen of the Cardinals.

And while Raffensberger was forcing Cardinal batters to pop-up or ground out, the Reds collected hits, but were able only to turn Johnny Wyrstek's initial hit into a score.

Wyrstek opened the game with a single and scored as Benny Zientara grounded out. Alpha Braze was touched for seven hits in eight innings and Jim Hearn escaped untouched in the final inning.

Sensational Rookie

The Boston Braves gave Alvin Dark ($40,000 to sign with their organization in 1946 and the rookie shortstop is paying back the outlay with interest.

Dark is the talk of the National League at the moment, having hit safely in 23 consecutive games. This streak, three games short of the rookie record set by Guy Curtwright of the Chicago White Sox in 1943, has enabled the Braves' shortstop to move into fourth place in the circuit's individual batting race. Dark is whacking the ball at a .333 pace for the league-leading Braves.

Dark is teaming up with Connie Ryan around the Keystone.

Dark and Ryan collected five of the Braves' 14 hits yesterday in Boston's 9-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies at Boston.

The triumph increased the Braves' lead to 5½ games over the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates who were beaten, 1-0, by the Cubs in Chicago.

Jack Conway's first major league homer enabled the Giants to shade the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-2, at New York. Conway homered in the ninth to snap a 2-2 tie.

All-Star Game Gets in Turmoil

Apathy of Players Has Moguls Peeved

BY JOE REICHLER

ST. LOUIS, July 12—(P)—The fate of the Major League All-Star classic hung in the balance today.

Incensed over the refusal of

Bobby Feller and Marty Marion to play in the 15th annual All-Star game here tomorrow and the apparent apathy of others, big league club owners were preparing for a showdown with the players.

From a reliable source it was learned that moguls, backed by

Presidents Ford Frick of the National League and Will Harridge of the American, were ready to issue the following ultimatum to the players.

"Either you live up to your moral obligations and play when called upon or let's drop the whole thing."

It was pointed out that each of the eight pitchers comprising the American League staff worked either Saturday or Sunday. Bob

Lemon of Cleveland, Joe Page of

New York, Joe Dobson of Boston,

Walter Masterson of Washington,

Hal Newhouser of Detroit and Joe

Colement of Philadelphia all pitched Sunday as well as Feller.

The Yankee's Vic Rasche and the

Chicago White Sox Joe Haynes hurled Saturday. Of the National six pitchers, only Johnny Schmitz worked over the weekend.

The Chicago Cubs' lefthander

pitched a two-hitter Saturday.

Feller bowed out because he said it would interrupt his regular pitching rotation for Cleveland.

St. Louis' Marion, who at times had been rested because of an ailing back, begged off because he claimed he was not in the best shape. Yet he has not missed a game of late. He was auspicious in yesterday's Cards-Reds game with several diving stops of ground balls.

In addition to Feller and Marion, who incidentally have been replaced, it was doubtful whether

Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Red

Schoendienst and George Kell would be fit to play. Each has been sidelined by an injury. All will be in uniform, however.

Schoendienst was the scheduled replacement for Boston's Eddie

Stanky who broke his ankle in a game at Brooklyn.

The most outspoken of the club heads was Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds.

"If the players don't show more of an interest in their All-Star game," he said, "then let's give it back to the Indians."

And he didn't mean Cleveland

one you were talking to when I saw you?"

"Yes,"
"Oh, but my dear," Nora was quite positive, "any girl in her senses would fall for you twice as hard if she knew you were one of the Delacourts. Even though you haven't a penny any more... Or have you?" she added on a sudden afterthought.

He did not answer this last, his mind still worrying the problem of Joan. "Not any girl in her senses, Nora," he said with equal positiveness. "And certainly not this particular girl. It would be the safest possible way of killing my chances with her."

She raised her slender brows. "Not a family feud, is there?" she teased.

"Worse than that," he answered. "Principles."

"Oh, you poor boy. Imagine falling for a girl with principles! I shall have to cheer you up. Shall I cheer you up, Paul?"

"Please," he said quickly, "not Paul. Call me Andy."

A calculating little light came into her eyes, and she studied him frankly. "You know," she said thoughtfully, "you always were a good-looking lad, but now, with your hair that way, and your mustache shaved off, you're a definite heart-throb. Shall we make a bargain? You take me around a bit to keep me from dying of ennui up here—perhaps let me meet some of these fascinating Branfield people you're so keen about—and I'll guarantee to keep your secret—not breathe it to a soul. How about it?"

Andrew was not too pleased. He had got into enough trouble trying to introduce Carol to his crowd. He forces definite difficulties with Nora. He said, "Is this a proposal or a threat?"

She pursed her lips a little, looked at him through narrowed lids. "Let's be frank, and call it blackmail," she said.

Andrew was worried. In his old life, Nora had been no more than an acquaintance, although she had always shown herself willing to be more. He really knew very little about her, except that her connections were good and she had been one of the group with whom he had made his brief social appearances. And so now he put off introducing her to his crowd as long as possible. Instead, he took Nora along on some of his exploration trips, when he hunted for another house to remodel which would have good sales possibilities.

"Where are we going, Andy?"

Nora asked one morning. "Toward Lisbon, I saw a house there the other day that has distinct possibilities, and I want to know what you think of it."

That quite cheered her up, and when they drove into the farm-yard, she was not too disdainful of the litter and the sagging roof.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

ANDREW went home to spend a restless night, to toss on the comfortable old iron bed, and wonder whether Joan had been offended because he had brought Carol along. Well, he decided, when the first birds began to sleep sleepily at one another, he would explain it all to her the next chance he had.

But it didn't work out the way he had planned it at all. He saw Joan sooner than he expected—that next morning, in fact, as he was walking down Main Street on his way to a real estate office. What gave him his first uncomfortable feeling was that he knew she saw him and pretended not to. She made a dive for a store entrance, and would have gone inside if he had not sprinted forward, calling out her name.

"Joan! Wait a minute!" She had to stop, then, but the face she turned toward him was blank and expressionless. Andrew had again that feeling of helpless frustration which Joan's displeasure could give him.

"Joan, I wanted to talk to you."

"Yes?" That was all she said, poised lightly before him, ready for flight.

"I hope you didn't mind about my bringing Carol last night," he began.

"Mind? Why should I? You have a perfect right to bring any girl you want to," she said, almost cordially, but he could see the angry light in her eyes.

The Chiem Lake rest center is the army's answer to an occupation family's dilemma—how to have a cheap, enjoyable, and restful vacation with a batch of children.

The resort, one of the few in Europe designed to come to the aid of the harassed family man, has a special play area for small children, high chairs, cribs, and eight nurseries.

On busy weekends the German nurse maids have their hands full with an average load of fifty young Americans—no snap for these "kindergarten schwester."

"American children are very spoiled," says 22-year-old Ingrid, a German refugee from the Russian zone. "I think their parents are not strict enough."

Ingrid says she has little trouble in making herself understood. Her main difficulty is in making herself obeyed. She says she'll never forget little George, five-year-old little "Ami" who was at the hotel around Christmas time.

"He hit me in the arm and spit into my face," recalls Ingrid. "I tried to talk to him, but he kicked me. The next day his mamma gave me permission to spank him and he was quiet after that. He said it was the first time he had ever been spanked."

The girl was tall, but her head was thrown back, the better to consider him. One arm still held him close. "Darling, you're looking wonderful—so tanned and handsome. And I do like you better without that silly little mustache."

"I get it," she nodded her head, and glanced at him out of the corners of her eyes. "It's a girl. The children while the mother eats. A German father would never do this. "We also find it touching that American fathers push the baby carriages and carry their little ones on their arms. In Germany this is considered unmanly."

Adolf Hitler undoubtedly never thought back in 1938 that the "Rasthaus am Chiemsee" would cater to American army lieutenants pushing baby carriages. According to an inscription on the entrance, the hotel was built "by special order of Adolf Hitler."

Lt. Col. Paul E. MacLaughlin of Gloucester, Mass., who is in charge of the hotel, thinks it is one of the best liked army resorts in Germany.

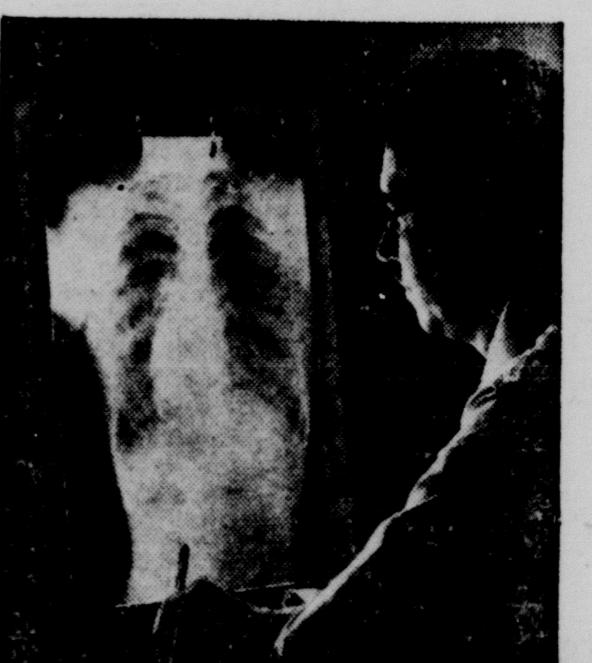

In keeping with theater-wide directives, officers and civilians pay one dollar a day room rent. Enlisted men and children are charged half price.

FHA Delegates Are Back Home From Convention

Pleasant Memories And Some New Ideas Gathered on Trip

The delegates from the Washington C. H. High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America to the first national convention of the organization in Kansas City today are back home with pleasant memories and some new ideas to present to the club members when school opens in September.

Miss Betty Ellen Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ford, and Miss Myrtle Scharenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Scharenberg, with their adviser, Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, attended the four-day session which was held in the municipal auditorium in Kansas City.

The WHS delegates were among 57 members of the Ohio group which joined FHA members from 43 states, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Four thousand high school girls and their advisers were assembled to hear Dr. Hazel Frost, national adviser, welcome the group last Tuesday morning at the first general business session. The eight purposes of the organization were presented in a symposium and the emblem, creed and degrees of achievement were featured at the afternoon session. Miss Nina Simpson, 17-year-old national president from New Mexico, addressed the group, discussing "Our Place in Community Affairs."

Roberto de la Rosa, cultural agent for the Mexican government explained "The Other American Way of Life" on Wednesday as the group studied international good-will. A sight seeing tour of Kansas City with luncheon at Swope Park was enjoyed. "Parade of the States" was the program for Wednesday evening with 16 state delegations taking part in the program.

Miss Lois West of Waverly was elected the first vice-president of the national organization for 1948-1949. The student members were divided into Central, North Atlantic, Southern and Pacific regional and sub-regional groups for the working and voting sessions. The groups met Thursday with the chapter advisers, chapter mothers and teachers trainers in the Music Hall to discuss organizational aids in developing FHA chapters.

Mrs. Wayne Woodyard represented Ohio at a working luncheon meeting Thursday at the Muelebach Hotel when Teen Times, the national FHA magazine, was discussed and plans were made for the four issues during 1948-49.

The highlight of the convention for the Ohio delegation was the conferring of the first and only American Homemaker Degree on Miss Joy Lynn of Bucyrus. Miss Jessie W. Harris, vice-dean of home economics at the University of Tennessee, addressed the group on "Careers in Home Economics" at the formal banquet in the main area Thursday night.

The convention closed after the business session Friday morning when plans for the four regional meetings in 1949 and a national convention in 1950 were made.

Police Radio Put to Use in Emergencies

New System Saves Time and Travel in First Two Cases

Fayette County's new police radio system had its "baptism of fire" in the drowning of two persons Sunday.

It was pressed into operation and saved considerable travel and time in the recovery of two bodies from creek waters, according to Police Chief Vaiden Long and Sheriff Orland Hays.

Telephone calls summoned Long, Hays and Fire Chief George R. Hall to Rock Bridge while a search was under way for the body of Donald Alltop, drowned in the waters of Paint Creek.

Upon arrival there, it appeared that a boat would be needed to aid in the rescue.

Sheriff Hays radioed from his automobile and finally located a boat on a Waterloo Road farm. He had stopped enroute and was intercepted by a radio call from Long when the body was recovered.

The radio thus saved Hays an auto trip of 30 miles and a delay of over a half hour—and gave him time to return to his office for the second call from New Holland.

When the Oty drowning was reported, Hays radioed Chief Long, who followed the sheriff to New Holland. Near the scene of the second drowning, Hays was able to direct operations of other emergency vehicles from the scene without the need of running to a telephone.

The radio has been in regular use since last Wednesday, the sheriff said. It was used to call the sheriff from Staunton to the scene of an accident on Clinton Avenue last week between a beer truck and another vehicle.

Mrs. David Driscoll Dies at Sabina

Mrs. Phoebe A. Driscoll, 86, died at her home in Sabina Monday at 9:30 A. M. following a week's illness.

She is survived by her husband, David; six children, Mrs. Harry Ross of New Vienna, Mrs. Clayton Cox of Wilmington, Mrs. Forrest Brookbank of Springfield, Charles of Xenia and Wilbur and Homer of Wilmington; eight grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

She was a member of the Memphis Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 P. M. in the Littleton Funeral Home with Rev. F. F. Hubbell officiating. Burial will be in the Sabina Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.
